ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

From a plurality of sets of advertisement data stored at a local server, specific advertisement data to be transmitted to an advertisement displaying vehicle are selected based upon different remuneration offered by individual advertisers for advertisement display and the advertisement data thus selected are transmitted to the advertisement displaying vehicle. As a result, overexposure of an advertisement from a specific advertiser is prevented.